An Outstanding Record.

One of the summer's notable events in Marion county will take place at the Cyrll Outhery farm in the western section of the county Tweedny, when the Lastine Sportsmen's club holds its fourth annual outing and harbecus.

Since its ince; tion this assembly has grown steadily in popularity and this year, if weather conditions are favorable the attendance is expected to set a new high

Followers of outdoor sports and persons interested in fish and game conservation come to this gathering not only from all parts of Marion county but from other sections of the state. Among them are officlass of state departments which have charge of Ohio's conservation program, As well us leaders in important sportsmen's organizations.

The reason for this being an event which so many people attend each year without fail is found primarily in the popularity and prestige of the sponsoring organization. The LaRus Sportsmen's club has established itself as a leader among Ohio groups interested in hunting and fishing and the annual assembly is first of all a testimonial to the fine work the club la doing. The club has a reputation for doing things right when it cuters into an undertaking and its record is one of unmarred achievement. Every project entered into since the clubwas formed has been carried through to successful completion and every one has been of substantial benefit to oportsmen and the public generally. The record provides striking evidence of what can be accomplished through community organization formed and kept astive for a definite purpose. It has proved that important work of far-reaching good can be done regardless of how large or small the community may be. The airments required for beneficial results are Interest and enthue asm on the part of the participants and efficient leadership for the direction of activities. This the LaRue club obviously has had, and as a result a village and its surrounding rural area have won statewide recognition.

The Lost Chord.

Fingers are being plugged into cars at the first wavering, uncertain notes of the Democrat harmony campaign. Scotlers shouldn't make the mistake of thinking it's funny, though.

The Democrats aren't tuning up for amusement. Neither are they singing for their supper, but for their lives. Unless they can swing it sweet and hot, to confinue the musical metaphor, the curtain will come down on their act.

The slogan of the hour is: 'Gentlemen. sound your A and take the first verse and chorus of 'The Lost Chord.'"

In other words, now is the time for all good men to come to the aid of the party, If the split opened up between the new dealers and the main branch isn't closed up soon, it will be too wide to jump over, the Democrate will be living in two separate

The record shows what happens to split parties. Had it not been for the Bull would have been able to reach the White House. Democrate don't want to let a second Roosevelt do to them what the first one did to the Republicans.

Postmuster General Farley is blowing on the pitch pipe and calling for harmony, A harmony dinner will be held in Wash-Ington. Even Vice President Garner hae chimed in with a clear tenor voice.

It has to be harmony-or else.

Healthier Attitude.

Secretary of Labor Perkins, speaking at Ohlo university, pointed out what obviously is true, that an expanding government is opening up new opportunities for college graduates.

The customary skeptlest comment, to the effect that real opportunities in government service await development of a atronger tradition of civil service, may be made about Miss Perkins' promise to college graduates, but there's semething else to say, also.

What is going to be the attitude of college graduates entering public service? Will they look upon their jobs as opportunities to improve the quality of government, will they show friendly and enlightened interest in establishing a sound tradition of civil service and public employment, or will they busy themselves solely with the bureaucratic preoccupations which always have been the curse of public jobholding? It is not to be imagined that employes

Hitler Judges German Art

BY DOROTHY THOMPSON

IN THEIR astensible effort to distinct the holeheatst culture from German art, the Nuzi government has actually out-holeheatsted the holeheatst. Presumably bolshevist culture is nunsculture, in which the standards of critical market has been been as a few season are set by the nature. in which the standards of criticism are set by the interest. And the mass standard has always been expressed in the phrase, "I don't know much about art, but I know what I like." Or, if holsbeyes art is forced to conform to a certain ideology, then again the Nazis ave

The artistic criterion for the average man has always teen com-prehensibility. But comprehen-sibility for the untrained co. and art is learned as a service of smiller. prehensibility. But comprehensibility for the untrained rea and solidity for the untrained reamiliarity. Long established ver r forms are familiar, therefore Edgat and familiar, therefore Edgat are familiar, therefore Edgat are familiar, therefore Edgat are familiar, the cit has become accustomed to the harmonies of Recthoven and Wagner, and even the average man wagner, and even the average man can listen pleasurably, or without acute pain, to the overture to Tannhauser or the Ninth Springhony. But the average man and even the average critic in the days of Peethoven and Wagner with horified by what seemed to them the encaphonies of both composers. They affected him then, as Stravinsky affects the average man today, and had they had their way two tiante musicians would have been banned and burned. In civilized societies, however, the average man is not the court of last appeal on artistic matiers and he is encouraged to respect his betters, that is to say, to admit the existence of criteria above his ewn.
